

Our purpose is to build relationships of trust by lifting up the voices of DTLA's underserved communities.

We will achieve this by listening to and engaging stakeholders at all economic levels, creating a vision together for building a more equitable downtown, and building power together with those most in need in our community.